Meet Sloane Emily Jacobs: a seriously stressed-out figure-skater from Washington, D.C., who choked during junior nationals and isnâ€™t sure sheâ€™s ready for a comeback. What she does know is that sheâ€™d give anything to escape the mass of misery that is her life.

Now meet Sloane Devon Jacobs, a spunky ice hockey player from Philly whoâ€™s been suspended from her team for too many aggressive hip checks. Her punishment? Hockey camp, now, when sheâ€™s playing the worst sheâ€™s ever played. If she messes up? Her life will be over.

When the two Sloanes meet by chance in Montreal and decide to trade places for the summer, each girl thinks sheâ€™s the lucky one: no strangers to judge or laugh at Sloane Emily, no scouts expecting Sloane Devon to be a hero. But it didnâ€™t occur to Sloane E. that while avoiding sequins and axels she might meet a hockey hottieâ€”and Sloane D. never expected to run into a familiar (and very good-looking) face from home. Itâ€™s not long before the Sloanes discover that convincing people youâ€™re someone else might be more difficult than being yourself.
